r.p.m.'s column

A few weeks ago this column stuck its neck out by objecting to the present game laws of this province which permits a man to be arrested and fined for simply carrying a fishing rod without a licence even though he be miles away from any fishing lake. This column held that such a law was presuming a man to be guilty without any evidence and maintained it was an infringement upon the rights of the individual.

The game department and one or two individuals did not like our remarks, but many people did.

The game department is apparently enthusiastically proceeding on its merry way and bringing into court every person it can catch with a fishing rod in his hand but no licence in his pocket.

A letter in the Vancouver Sun of August 3 outlines such a case. If the facts are as set down in the letter, then in our opinion the law is wrong. Why, indeed, should a man be fined for simply carrying the fishing rod of a woman companion?

The writer of the letter states that he did not fish and that his friends explained and protested to the game warden. He does read itly admit he did carry the woman's rod from the boat to the car. And who wouldn't?

But let's hear the victim's story in his own words.

"Editor, The Sun: Sir—A letter under the caption, 'Over Zealous Police,' and the editorial 'Highway Markers,' on the same page, prompt me to write you.

"I am a councillor of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, eligible for retirement pension. We motored to this province via Montana, Idaho and Washington, with a view to purchasing a home here in which to spend the remaining years of our life.

"Throughout our entire trip we could not have been treated more courteously or kindly if we had been royalty. Nothing was too good for us. Each one of us seemed to feel that he had the honor of his province or state in his keeping. Numerous minor traffic violations, unintentionally made, were overlooked and apologies brushed aside.

"Contrast this treatment with that received in your province from a government official.

"The Sunday evening immediately following our arrival, I was asked by friends and relatives to go fishing with them at the dock at Colony Farm, Essondale. When fishing rods were produced I hastened to inform all present that I had no licence to fish nor did I possess, here or in Saskatchewan, even so much as a small hook.

All present hastened to assure me that no licence was necessary to fish in tidal waters. There was the mighty Fraser a few hundred yards to the right, a power fishing boat at the dock, and a line of racks and driftwood floating away from the Fraser and not towards it. It did appear to my untrained prairie eyes that the tide was coming in. When I, the only Saskatchewan man in the party, still demurred the others said, 'We have licences; you row, we'll fish.' So I left my car with its Saskatchewan licence at the dock and went boat riding. For 2½ hours (except for approximately 20 minutes when one of my passengers wanted to warm up) I rowed that homemade boat.

"Upon return to the dock, a lady attempted to carry both her car and her rod ashore. I offered to carry her rod for her. She had caught no fish nor had anyone else in our boat.

"When I had gotten into the driver's seat of my Saskatchewan car, thus signifying ownership, a person approached and asked for my licence to fish. Despite the explanations and protests of my friends, who also reside here, I was requested to appear (for the first time in nearly 60 years) before a court of justice in Port Coquitlam by Game Warden Frank Urquhart.

There Magistrate J. R. Lee imposed a fine of $10 and costs. The fact that I had politely, and perhaps too gallantly for our warden, carried the lady's rod ashore was given as evidence against me. His reading of numerous extracts from B.C. laws and regulations seemed to me to be an attempt to convince himself that he had acted without bias and with complete fairness towards a guest in his home province.

"Plucking the prairie chickens and tourist baiting has long been considered poor business and outmoded in most progressive communities.

"Now I shall be in constant fear until I leave this province that I may pass some hidden stop sign, violate some bylaw or blunder into some tourist trap.

"However, in all fairness, I must state that, except for this one unpleasant incident, your service station attendants, your police officials, your businessmen and the public generally have treated us with exceptional courtesy and kindness.

R.R. 2, New Westminster."

MOVIE QUICKIES

The Frankenstein Monster is heading for Kelowna.

He will appear in the spookiest stage and screen fright of them all, when Dr. Silkin and company, of Hollywood, present "Asylum of Horrors" on the Paramount stage, August 21, at midnight.

The one-day engagement will consist of such bits as "The Man, the Gorilla, the cemetery at midnight with the blood-curdling awakening of the Frankenstein Monster, spooks, ghosts, flying reptiles, giant spiders, human vampires and phenomenal luminous creations that actually leave the stage and float over and through the audience.

Many beautiful girls as well as Miss Claire Roberts, Hollywood starlet, will assist Dr. Silkin, the Ghost Master, as he presents his terrific and blood-curdling happenings.

A most unusual and extraordinary evening's entertainment, this show is the most dumbfounding and startling presentation that has ever been offered in any theatre.

Dr. Silkin, who has done his best for the past 13 years to make men, women and children faint from terror, started his show when the first Frankenstein picture came out. The ghost master sleeps in a coffin every night. "I took to sleeping that way when I first entered the horror business. The deadly quiet and atmosphere gives me new ideas to add to my show. In order to feel a part fully you have to live the part. That was my original idea when I started sleeping in coffins and gradually I've gotten used to them," he said.

The stage show will be followed on the screen by "Spooky Wild!" featuring Bela Lugosi and the East End Kids.

GUESTS AT THE EL DORADO ARMS... are Dr. W. M. Toome and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Toome and son, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Postle and family, all of North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patterson, Vancouver; and Mrs. L. M. Money, Victoria.

Is Charity Campaigning Getting Out Of Hand?

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following article written by Ronald Williams appeared in the "Financial Post" of Toronto in the issue of August 5th. The subject is one which has been discussed at considerable length in Kelowna during the past two years and is currently coming to a local head through the formation of a community chest organization here. While the article is long, in view of the local interest in the subject, the Financial Post's article is reproduced in full.)

"What, still another campaign?" That's what hundreds of thousands of Canadians have sometime said.

But this year Canadians will give more than $80 millions to various kinds of voluntary appeals.

That's based on income tax deduction claims for "(1) the relief of poverty, (2) the advancement of education (3) the advancement of religion and (4) other purposes beneficial to the community not falling under any of the preceding heads."

That estimate obviously cannot include the many millions of dollars of cash slipped onto collection plates, into needy hands, and into worthy treasuries by tens of thousands of good people who don't ask for a receipt with which to confront the tax collector.

There are nothing but estimates available as to the value of the property, buildings, and equipment in Canada's hospitals and universities, religious and charitable institutions. But look around you.

"Good works" is one of the biggest investments in the land; and the industry Canadians would almost least do without.

But here we are going to look only at that particular kind of good work as illustrated by national fund drives for community chest or a university, for the Blind or for the Salvation Army.

What's the business end of this "good works" business? Where does the money go? Are too many drives coming along for all or any to do the work properly and adequately for which the money is intended?

Is the money well spent? Are the promotion and administrative costs reasonable?

How is the individual family or the business firm to budget wisely for its charitable donations?

How is it to find out if it is getting good yield on the return of its investment in human welfare?

Competition Increasing
Right now there is some woe and worry in the good works business. Things are getting a little tough. Concern is mounting over the number of new appeals being launched.

Competition for the Canadian's charitable dollar is threatening the work of established institutions. The trouble is more funds are after what money there is available. Last year, for instance, there were more appeals than ever before resigned before the campaign ended.

Growing Multiplicity
But this wasn't the whole story. Even if these unexpected emergency appeals hadn't been launched, there's good reason to believe that several would have fallen down anyway due to the multiplicity of appeals in the first part of the year.

Between January and May, 11 national organizations held their campaigns.

At one stage, four were appealing at the same time.

The City of Ottawa had eight funds after money at the same time.

During the war the Government, using its emergency powers, required all "welfare funds" to get governmental approval. Then for the whole batch of them there was one annual drive. Or a least that was the intention. The Red Cross talked so persuasively that an exception was made. So during the war there were two annual campaigns, the Red Cross going it alone.

After the war the old free-for-all was restored—with results to date (Turn to Page 6, Story 1)

OKANAGAN MISSION

OKANAGAN MISSION—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Guiler Kennedy and son, of Nanaimo, have been the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kennedy at their Okanagan Mission home. Mr. Kennedy has returned to Vancouver Island, where he is one of the junior engineers on the H. R. MacMillan project, while Mrs. Kennedy and son will remain for a few weeks longer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Middlemass, accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. W. Ford, have returned to their Okanagan Mission home from a holiday spent on Vancouver Island.

VANCOUVER ELEVEN WIN Vancouver's touring cricketers, in their third game of their annual tour of the Okanagan last week, had no difficulty on Wednesday defeating Vernon Legion at Vernon 125-62. Batting last the Vancouverites overcame Vernon's lead with the loss of two wickets and continued to play until seven were gone.

'When the Ump called 3 STRIKES' he could have meant me

I remember how I'd looked forward to that game... how I'd prayed for just one afternoon's relief from miserable, sluggish, half-sick feelings. But even before I started for the park I felt all in. When the Ump called the first 'Out', he could have been looking right at me.

"But on the way home I saw Kruschen's Salts displayed in a drug store window. Next morning I took my first small dose of Kruschen. Right from the first, it quickly brought me the relief I needed. Now I'm regular with Kruschen, enjoying my meals again and every day, I'm 'right' in there pitching!"

If bad digestion, "irregularity" and that worn-out, listless feeling have "3 strikes on you"—try a little Kruschen Salts with your morning fruit juice, tea or coffee. Helps you get and keep "regular"... helps knock out sluggish, "liverish" feelings... gives you per that wins! Ask your druggist.

Mercury Hits Peak of 94 During Month of July

Hot and dry it looked like July was going to be, from the weatherman's standpoint, but Jupiter Pluvius had a big say at the end of the month to alter the precipitation picture considerably.

The month produced both the hottest day of the year and a few runners-up as well and also the heaviest rainfall recorded this year.

The peak mercury of 94 came on July 25, sandwiched between a 93 on the 24th and a 92 on the 28th. On two other occasions during the month the temperature hit 90 or better.

Rain came just on time to empty the skies and leave the coast clear for an ideal Regatta on August 1 and 2. A fall of eight-tenths of an inch was recorded on the 27th (8 a.m. to 8 a.m.) while the next 24 hours (July 28) saw a miniature downpour hit the city and environs leaving large pools of water everywhere and 1.48 inches in the precipitation gauge of official weather observer R. F. Walrod.

Coldest during the month was a 47 on the night of July 9. Mean high for July was 82.25 and mean low 54.8. Total precipitation came to 2.72 inches.

At Joe Rich, where records are kept by Mrs. Mary Weddell, the high for the month was 89.5, also on July 25, and the low 33, on July 10. July precipitation totalled 1.61 inches.

While Kelowna was getting its nearly one-and-a-half inches of rain on the 28th, Joe Rich residents absorbed six-tenths of an inch for the biggest fall of the month.

LETTERS FROM MACKENZIE KING ARE CHERISHED

Letters from the late W. L. Mackenzie King are deeply cherished by A. E. Homewood, Rutland pioneer who has corresponded with the former prime minister for several years. Both their birthday anniversaries fell on the same day, although the prime minister, who was 75 when he died, was 14 years younger than Mr. Homewood.

His last letter was received from F. A. McGregor, Mr. King's secretary, thanking the Rutland pioneer for his message of sympathy in connection with the statesman's death.

Mr. Homewood has released the text of the letters received from Mr. King in recent years. They are as follows:

Ottawa, December 15, 1947.

Dear Mr. Homewood: I thank you warmly for the kind congratulations and good wishes conveyed in your letter of the 1st of December. I am interested to learn that our birthday anniversaries fall on the same day, and I reciprocate warmly the good wishes you have expressed for that occasion.

It was thoughtful of you to let me see the letter which you enclosed with your letter. I am returning them to you herewith, as I feel sure you will wish to keep them among your own papers.

My best wishes to you for Christmas and the New Year.

With kindest regards,

Yours sincerely,

W. L. Mackenzie King.

Laurier House, Ottawa, November 28, 1948.

Albert E. Homewood, Esq., Rutland, B.C.

I was very pleased to receive this morning your letter of November the 28th. I thank you warmly for its kind words and good wishes.

Let me thank you also for sending me the photograph of yourself and Mrs. Ethel Mugford.

You look much more like 60 than 88. If I could hope to enjoy the health and strength which you appear to have, and to enjoy such a youthful appearance, I think, like yourself, I should be happy to live to 88.

Let me send you my best of wishes for your birthday on December the 17th—the same date as my own; also best of wishes for Christmas and the New Year. Seeing Mrs. Mugford's birthday comes the day before ours, I wish you would extend my best of wishes to her for many happy returns of the day.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

W. L. Mackenzie King.

House of Commons, Canada, Ottawa, March 6, 1949.

Mr. Albert E. Homewood, Kelowna General Hospital, Kelowna, B.C.

Dear Mr. Homewood:

I have recently learned that you have reached the great age of eighty-eight years, and that at the present time you are in the Kelowna General Hospital and have the good fortune to be under the care of Dr. Gordon Wilson.

As each of us is getting on in years—though you are still 14 years ahead of me—I have thought that an exchange of greetings might be a welcome reminder of a friendship that runs back many years into the past and which has left not a few memories of your loyalty and generosity.

This line is just to say that I am sorry to learn of the indisposition which has necessitated your being in the hospital but how happy I am to know that you are in such good hands that, I am sure, will do more than all else to relieve your present anxiety.

Let me add that your eighty-eight years are, in themselves, a prediction on your life. It is a great age to which to live in times like

KNOCKOUTS in the first round was the fate of Kelowna district softballers over the week-end but today there appeared a possibility one of the decisions might be reversed. An official protest and the required $50 deposit was filed before the 12-hour deadline this morning by the Kelowna Aces. The protest covers the second game of the series played in Athletic Oval—the only game that didn't go into extra innings.

Manager-Coach Bud Fraser claimed a distinct violation of playing rules as much as pitcher Lottie Matura was not dressed solidly in one of the four basic colors (black, red, green or blue). She hurled her team-mates to a 1-0 in the same yellow uniform worn by the rest of the team.

Last night Fraser also was considering protesting on the basis that neither of Penticton Rexalls' two coaches were registered. Later after conferring with the team, he decided to pass that up and protest on the second game only.

Should the protest be upheld there is a chance the whole series might be thrown out. B.C. Amateur Softball Association officials at Vancouver are expected to hand down a decision soon, possibly today.

The Kelowna series on Saturday and Sunday had all the thrills, excitement and good ball anyone could ask for. It had its bad moments too, particularly in the final game, last night when fielding miscues and errors of judgment played a big part in the outcome.

Uphill Climbs

Rexalls, currently defending provincial senior B champions, appeared to be well away for a win in the first game Saturday evening as they jumped on starting pitcher Olive Pope but were held in the second inning. Little Zena Rantucci finally took over but not before Mrs. Pope was nicked for seven hits and eight runs.

From that point on Zena held the Aces to a 1-0 victory. The Aces, potent southerners in fairly close check while the Aces kept pecking away at the lead. Home run queen Anita Darroch ruled as heroine when she blasted out a four-bagger with two on in the last of the seventh to tie the game at 9-9.

Three more innings were run off before the game was called by darkness but neither side could count.

One-Hitter

The second game was easily the best of the series, only one error committed on both sides. Matura, Penticton pitcher, gave up only one hit in her 1-0 victory, that to Mary Brockman, the only Ace to reach second. June Minette was the only other Kelowna girl to reach first, getting there on an error in the third inning.

Victim of a bad case of jitters in the early stages again, the Aces fought an uphill battle all through the third game. By the fourth inning, on solid, well-placed knocks and some poor fielding, the Rexalls had an 8-5 lead.

Rantucci was unbeatable in the next three regulation innings while the Aces went to work on the lead again, tying up the game in the sixth and missing a great opportunity in the last of the seventh to win the game.

Won in Eighth

With the score tied at 8-8 in the last of the seventh, the local gals loaded the bags with two singles and an error—and only one away. The next two batters flied out to force the game into an extra inning. Rexalls, in their half, notched four runs on three hits and two errors, while the Aces could come back with only two runs on three hits and a pair of bobbles. Final score was 12-10.

Lose Two Straight

At Penticton over the week-end, the Rutland Rovers, champions of this zone, made a gallant bid for the south-central Okanagan honors but stumbled against the Penticton Meteors.

The homesters held on for a tight 6-5 win in the first game on Saturday evening that could have gone either way until the last ball was thrown. Mastermind Jake Runzer started out for the Rutlanders in the sec-

TOURING ELEVEN LOSES TWICE IN KELOWNA PARK

Touring Vancouver cricketers will always remember Kelowna's Athletic Oval as the scene of two decisive defeats.

The Vancouverites lost their second match in as many victories during their annual Okanagan tour on Friday when they came up against a powerful all-star eleven picked from Naramata, Kelowna and Vernon. Final score on Friday, in the City Park, was Vancouver 143, Okanagan team 247 for seven wickets.

Two days before 'the Kelowna Cricket Club was victorious declaring at 203 for six after the Vancouver team was held to 148 runs in their first innings.

In both matches Pete Scott, Kelowna baseball pitcher, was a stand-out, topping all batsmen with 63 runs in the Wednesday affair and compiling 72 not out in the Friday match.

Charles Twite of Vernon got 87 runs in Friday's match to lead batsmen on both occasions.

Summary for the Wednesday match follows:

HOLD PROVINCIAL JR. TRACK, FIELD MEET SATURDAY

Attendance of Fred Turner and Marilyn Oatman Depends Upon Transportation

Annual B.C. junior track and field championships will be decided at Brockton Point in Stanley Park, Vancouver, this coming Saturday. The yearly affair will have 47 events this year, including sprints, middle distances, hurdles, relays, shot, discus, javelin, pole vault, high and broad jumps.

The meet, open to junior boys (under 20), juvenile boys (under 16), middle boys (under 14) and junior girls (under 17), is sponsored jointly by the Pro-Rec branch of the education department and the Vancouver Daily Province.

Only two Kelowna athletes are among the possible Okanagan representation so far. Fred Turner hopes to run in an exhibition mile race against Bill Parnell, British Empire Games mile champion, and the Orchard City's sprint flash, Billy Boyd, hopes to get there for the 75 yard dash.

Deadline Wednesday

Appearance of both depends largely on overcoming that familiar transportation bugbear. Entries are being accepted by the meet director, R. J. "Bus" Phillips at the Pro-Rec office, 2414 Main Street, Vancouver, or at the Province sports department up to Wednesday of this week.

Miss Oatman managed to get to Vancouver for the major meet there last week where she ran fourth in the 75 in a close finish against Vancouver's best.

BOYD PLANS RODEO HERE LABOR DAY

W. C. Boyd, manager of O.K. Rodeo, has completed arrangements for one of the biggest stampedes ever to be staged in the Central Okanagan.

The saddle bucking contest, which will be a grand finale for the season, will determine the champion who has won the greatest number of points. There will be a presentation of a specially hand-tooled championship belt to the winner.

In addition to this labor day event, held on the adjoining property to the Boyd Drive-In Theatre, Manager Boyd has contracted with the local Dodge drivers to stage another action show here. In this section of the program the main event will be a death-defying car demolition race in which several cars will do battle in a battle royal in which, bunting, crashing, rolling and smashing until only one car is left mobile and able to move on its own power from the arena.

KAMLOOPS DISTRICT TEAMS MONOPOLIZE PLAYOFF SPOTS

It's three Kamloops district teams now in the four-team B.C. Interior Baseball League playoffs. Yesterday the Kamloops Elks, at Kamloops, trounced Revelstoke Spikes 10-3 to break the tie for fourth place and earn the last playoff berth.

They will meet Kamloops CYO in one of the best-of-three finals.

In the other semi-finals set, it will be North Kamloops and Kelowna, with North Kamloops getting the third game at home if it is required.

North Kamloops gained this edge by shellacking the Elks Red Sox here yesterday 15-1 in an encounter that found the homesters way off color. Pete Scott, relieved by "Pills" Purcello in the 10-run fourth inning, was charged with the loss. Winning pitcher Al Byman gave up only five hits.

First games in the semi-finals come off in a double-header at Kamloops Sunday.

EDDIE KIELBISKI RURAL FIRE WINS COVETED LOSSES SHOW PLAYER AWARD BIG INCREASE

Veteran utility player Eddie Kielbiski yesterday was announced as the winner of the Frank Keevil Trophy, awarded annually to the player judged most valuable on the Kelowna senior baseball team.

Kielbiski, who catches, pitches and plays both the infield and outfield equally well, was presented with the award by the well-known donor during yesterday's ball tilt in Elks Stadium.

With the trophy, which he keeps for a year, went an individual cup for his own possession. Eddie is the fourth man to win the award. Other winners were: Fred Kitch (1947), Harold Cousins (1948), Cec Favell (1949).

ANOTHER FIVEPIN MEETING TONIGHT TO PLAN SEASON

With the league bowling season less than a month away, another 2 league will be making plans tonight for the coming fivepin league.

The Mixed Bowling League is meeting at the Bowldrome tonight at 8 o'clock.

On the agenda for discussion are switching to Friday nights and the number of teams to take part. Sixteen teams rounded out the loop last year and, according to President Johnny Daynard, there is every reason to believe the same number will be out this year.

Men Elect Webster
The men's commercial circuit met last week and named Dennis Webster as president. Allan Anderson as statistician. Jack Ritch remains as secretary-treasurer.

Mondays and Tuesdays were selected for the two nights this season, instead of Mondays and Fridays as last year. Actual number of teams taking part hasn't been decided, but there is a possibility the loop will be cut to 24—12 teams playing each night.

Objective now is to get away on Monday, September 11. League officials and team captains are working on a scheme to lick the old bugbear—defaulting games.

LAKE FISH DERBY SET FOR SUNDAY

Kelowna and District Rod and Gun Club announced over the week-end its third annual Okanagan Lake fish derby will be held this coming Sunday.

The much-looked-for event by Isaac Walton disciples hereabouts begins at dawn and concludes at 5 p.m. with weigh-in time from 3 to 5 p.m. at the breakwater float. Entries may be made at any of the sporting goods stores during the week or at the Ferry Service Station on Sunday. Full particulars are given in the ad on this page.

The driver of this car will be declared the winner. Some of the preliminaries to the battle royal will be time trials and races.

OVER 60—BUT NEVER CONSTIPATED NOW

"After a lifetime of constipation I became 'regular' simply by making KALOOG'S ALL-BRAN my breakfast cereal. No more pills or medicines—such a difference!" R. E. Schultz, 5 Bedford Rd., Kitchener, Ont. Just one of many unsolicited letters. If you, too, suffer from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet—don't waste any more time. Start eating an ounce of KALOOG'S ALL-BRAN for breakfast—and drink plenty of water. If after 10 days you are not on the road to complete regularity, send empty box to Kellogg's, London, Ont. ### CANADIANS WIN BALL TOURNNEY

Vernon Canadians yesterday won the annual Woods Lake baseball tournament that saw six games run off before the winner was declared.

Vernonites, who beat the Rutland Blue Caps 9-6 in the first round and the Rutland Red Caps 2-1 in the semi-final, squeezed by Oyma 10-9 in the final to take the honors.

Oyma defeated Winfield Cubs 3-2 in the first round and then drew a bye into the final against Vernon. In the other game the Red Caps ousted the Winfield Aces in the preliminary by an 8-7 count in an extra inning before falling to Vernon in the semi-final.

More About 1 IS CHARITY

that are worrisome. Now the only government control as to who or what campaign for funds from the public is the municipality. And unless my municipality objects, I can tomorrow organize a campaign to solicit money for wayward girls on Mars or anything else.

Just about everybody connected with good causes is concerned. The hundreds of thousands who give know they are being asked to give more and often. They remember hearing that the Community Chest would co-ordinate and consolidate fund raising, eliminate overlapping and duplication. They remember there was unity during the war.

Business and industry have compling reasons for being interested in the state and efficiency of this business of philanthropy.

How much can the business give? To whom should it give and how apportion its funds? To what campaigns should it afford the co-operation of collecting from its employees, and using that powerful extractive weapon, the departmental subscription sheets showing what others do or don't give?

A vice-president of one of Canada's leading manufacturing firms last year had to deal with 390 separate and distinct appeals. It took a lot of his time. His decisions may have caused some bad will for his company.

One of the country's large retail organizations had to crack down because employee canvassing was taking up too much time. At least one of the new national health appeals was refused permission to canvass.

The volunteer canvasser who collects the $90 millions is getting leg-weary. Many are becoming confused, fed-up and in many cases rebellious. At least two long-established agencies had more trouble getting canvassers this year than in a long time.

But perhaps the most concerned are the people closest to it; the professional and non-professional social workers who run the "good works" business.

W. H. Dewar, executive director of the Community Chest of Greater Toronto, recently put the concern into words: "Unless welfare fund campaigns are unified public annoyance at the number of them will persist"—and increase.

But the ominous result of multiplicity is the growth of restiveness among some agencies which hitched their fortunes to the Community Chest drive.

Some of these, looking at the handsome success of some of the drives which go alone without it, by dropping out of the Chest, and running their own drive, they wouldn't get more money.

Any general move of that kind would merely expose the citizen to an extra swarm of appeals. And because it takes money to collect money, less of the charitable dollar would end up in the place for which it was intended.

There's another important problem.

The need for charity money—the real value of the work it does in promoting human welfare—is not in direct ratio with the emotional content of its appeal with the expectations of its publicity operators. Some campaigns do a great deal of good to a great many people who have no other source of help. But some campaigns serve only some people with many other sources of help.

One result of the current rash of new funds, and growing restlessness with consolidated drives could be that the organizations serving well a field in which there is a proven need are going to lose out in the mad race for the charity dollar—or, they are going to have to divert a bigger share of the charity dollar to promotion and campaign costs.

The Economies

Take the matter of how big a slice of your charitable dollar gets to do the work you intended.

Obviously, the costs of raising and administering $1 million by efficient means are not going to be anywhere near five times the cost of raising $200,000. That is, the small campaign is relatively more expensive.

Well, what are these costs? In my investigations of those agencies which readily answered queries about campaign and administrative costs, these stand out and are representative of the various types of drives.

The Community Chest justly prides itself on its efficiency. It is staffed and well-supervised, it is by its very nature bound to produce favorable cost ratios. It is the classic example of what a well-run united appeal can do.

For the latest Community Chest drive in Toronto contributions were $2,138,271. Costs of the campaign were 3%. Administration costs were 0.2%. That is a total slice out of the charity dollar of only around 3.5%.

Everybody who knows anything about the business end of charity admits this is a very low cost operation.

Last year according to the Community Chests and Councils of the Canadian Welfare Council, there were 51 Chests in Canada which raised $10,032,925 for the year 1950 on behalf of their 755 member agencies. Most of these agencies are local services but many of them the local affiliates of national organizations such as the YMCA, YWCA, Victorian Order of Nurses, Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the Salvation Army. Although these Chests are completely autonomous and local, for nearly 10 years they have been associated together in the Canadian Welfare Council for co-operative purposes. For instance, such central services as national Red Feather publicity, and field consultation are provided through the Canadian Welfare Council.

March of Dimes

The second: The March of Dimes. This is one of the new campaigns in the lucrative health field. It is typical of the independent new national appeal.

The name—and the cause, polio—has had a great deal of publicity in the United States, including that acquired through the aura of the late President Roosevelt.

One fact worth mentioning about polio: the number who are crippled by it and the chance of getting it are extremely small compared with the number of victims and the potential victims of other human disasters. In addition, victims get free medical aid in some provinces.

However, the annual summer excitement about a relatively few tragic cases, and the publicity they get, has put polio high on the public panic list despite the fact that every intelligent doctor and every statistician proves there are a great many things about which parents and the public should worry a great deal more.

This year, Canada got its first March of Dimes campaign. The "founder and executive director" of the Canadian Foundation for Polio-myelitis is Dr. E. J. Haslam of Toronto. He used to be in the advertising business.

Its first campaign officially ended last Feb. 28. At June 9 $280,000 had been raised. No objective was set, but Dr. Haslam's figure for his mind was around $300,000. For next year he's thinking about going after $1 million. He thinks campaign costs for the million will be only some $20,000 more than they were for the $280,000 collected so far.

The financial statement indicates campaign cost for collecting the $280,000 were $40,908, or 15.7%. Administrative costs are reported at 11.7%.

The third case: The Red Cross. This is one of the "big" funds. It has built itself an almost unique place in public acceptance. It is one of the most jealous in retaining its "apartness" from other drives. (Note the "apartness" from other drives.)

Recently in Ontario, the Red Cross instructed locals which had joined the Community Chest to withdraw. Some did, but in other places (Windsor, Peterborough) public pressure was too great and they are still in. They also belong to the Chest in some Western cities.

The Red Cross in its latest National drive got $5,001,102. The cost of its campaign was 7.9%; administration costs, 18.2%. That is a 26% slice of the dollar.

(The Red Cross' official answer goes like this: Our functions are unique. They are international as well as national. We don't know from one day to the next when our resources are going to be needed. Disasters strike unexpectedly. We must be ready at all times, hence considerable administrative expense.)

The list is interesting. It indicates a lot of good work has been done. But the man who tries to appraise the real delivered value of his charity dollar will, on a moment's reflection, realize that any list of this kind doesn't tell him how well the money is being spent, how real is the need for the particular expenditure, whether certain jobs are being done by other agencies, or whether certain jobs are supported by getting done by governments out of taxpayer money. (An investigator into this whole welfare field gets dizzy trying to keep track of who is doing what and for whom with whose money.)

Here's the Dilemma

The dilemma of the charities is this: Too many campaigns will spell the pith for all—and particularly for the long-established charities which over the years have built up a sizeable institution doing important work in human welfare, but which, obviously, need considerable financial support to maintain the work which they are doing.

The other horn of the dilemma is visible in the very long-term point of view expressed by Mr. Average Canadian, individualistic, democratic, anti-authoritarian.

"I want to give my money in my own way to whom I wish and for the cause I wish. The big drive, with all its efficiency and economies creates a big administrative vested interest."

Most sincere social service people appear to have this attitude. There is something to be said, they say, in

Kelowna In Bygone Days

From the Files of The Kelowna Courier

ONE YEAR AGO

Thursday, August 11, 1949

Student pilot Roy Barlee, 19, of Okanagan Mission, was killed instantly Saturday afternoon when the Cessna 140 he was piloting nosedived just after takeoff at Ellison field, officially opened less than a week previously.

Some East Kelowna and Okanagan Mission fruit growers suffered heavy damage to their crops from week-end hailstorms. The same storm brought a torrential down-pour to Kelowna, spilling nearly four-tenths of an inch of rain in 15 minutes.

After a lapse of four years, Kelowna Cricket Club again captured the Spencer Cup, emblematic of Okanagan supremacy.

Kelowna's renowned miller, Fred Turner, won the mile event at the requiring each new cause to go it alone long enough to test public reaction and to shake down original claims to a realistic level.

Later, as their causes become established, they might be expected or encouraged to cluster.

A second alternative being mulled over is to enlarge membership of existing "Community Chests" through what is called an "open-door" policy which admits new causes, perhaps after an initial trial period and certainly after their bona fides have been established.

A third way is to let the Chest look after local services, including the local branches of certain national organizations and to set up a new federation for national agencies—at any rate for each agency in the field.

But all this is still in the realm of theory. It doesn't help Canadians right now in deciding how to divide up their charity dollar.

What About Control?

Should there be some control over the flow of new drives for "good works" money?

Some say yes—fearing the consequences, unquestionably ill, if charity drives multiply.

But where to draw the line? That's the problem with which logic quickly collides. Who would say that only those funds now soliciting public money shall be permitted to continue; that no other good causes may enter the field?

Even the charity giving public against abuse have so far been slight and tentative. The Federal Government has only a tenuous jurisdiction. In addition, the business of assuming stop and go powers of charities is something sensible men don't like to assume.

But there is continued pressure in Ottawa to do at least one thing in its power: tighten up on the issuance of federal charters to charity drive aspirants.

Some social service people urge an amendment to Section 2 of the Companies Act under which charters are issued to nonprofit organizations. Make it essential, they say, that applicants establish their bona fides before getting a charter. Make it illegal to raise money on a national scale without a federal charter.

As matters stand now, it doesn't make any difference whether you have a charter or not. Legally, all a charter does is exempt directors from personal liability.

But getting a federal charter has become so popular that one somehow becomes accepted as a badge of honor, a seal of approval, an official okay as to the aims, management and probity of a fund—none of which is the fact.

Today, the number of sorts has been established between the Secretary of State's department which issues the charters and the Department of Health and Welfare on whose shoulders social workers cry when something happens they don't think is right.

At one time, if the application form was filled out properly and all requirements met, a charter was issued automatically. Today Health and Welfare has almost, but not quite, the final say.

Arrangements have been made to have Health and Welfare screen all applications in its field. The Secretary of State isn't bound by the verdict, but in practice it is observed.

However, this doesn't do the general public much good. Very few ask if an organization has a federal charter. The chief end result is that lack of one is in the nature of an answer to questions being raised by the professional social worker. In time, the information may filter down to the rank and file giver.

Let's be brutally added that there have been few drives in the name of charity in Canada which would even come close to meriting the term racket.

Appraisal Important

But what worries and enrages workers in this field is to see people putting their charity money where it will do only a little bit of good, when the money could do so very much more good put somewhere else.

How then is the individual or the corporate giver to appraise the merits of a charity appeal. What is the way to find out if your charity money is doing good work?

The first thing to do is to guard against letting your enthusiasm and sympathy get away with your judgment. Don't pile your charity dollars into the drive for a cause that appeals to you because "that was Dad's trouble," or for some other purely personal reason. It may be that this particular worthy cause is already getting substantial financial help from another source.

Here are the basic questions about any drive to which you need the answers: 1. Is it a legitimate purpose? 2. Does it duplicate the work others are doing? 3. Is the work it does with the money worthwhile; is its objective attainable; has it adequate facilities and proper administration to do the job it says it wants to? 4. Is it 100% ethical? Is it an honest-to-goodness charitable endeavor and not primarily a scheme for promoting somebody's public relations or personal income? In the U.S., the giver can get very able guidance in settling up his donation list.

Originally organized to protect the public against outright charity rackets, the National Information Bu-

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, August 8, 1940

A strike vote is now in progress in packing houses in the Okanagan. Eight CUBs and Cubmaster Marjorie Thomson of Okanagan Mission, all hiking towards Bear Creek, reported they had a clear view of Ogopogo a few hundred yards offshore.

Alice Thomson, Kelowna's idol of the waters, swept all opposition before her in the thirty-fourth annual Kelowna International Regatta Wednesday and Thursday to retain the ladies' aggregate honors and the Hiram Walker trophy. Gordon Lawrence of Victoria captured the men's aggregate.

Highlight of the Regatta was the smashing of a world's record in the women's 50 yards breaststroke by Vancouver's Joan Langdon, who turned in a time of 34.8 seconds. Previous world mark was 35.9.

A local delegation upon its return has developed into a professional appraiser of charity appeals. It watches motives, ethics, finances and administration. It rates charities, naming the inefficient, the sub-standard, the duplicate efforts.

In addition, almost every U.S. city of 100,000 or more has an Information Bureau of some sort or other. It might be run by the local Community Chest, the Chamber of Commerce; it might be a branch of the Welfare Council.

In Canada, there's no official source the general public can go to. Advice is available but on an unofficial confidential basis.

In many cities the Community Chest is becoming the main clearinghouse for such enquiries.

Perhaps some day Canada will have a similar "giver's guide", but that day doesn't seem to be near.

Sponsors Have Responsibility

Meanwhile, one of the best and most necessary things prominent business and professional men can do is to be very careful and scrutinizing in joining fund boards of directors and letting their names be used as sponsors, etc.

Listen to Paul Reed, executive director of the National Information Bureau, just referred to. "The worst crime against philanthropy is committed by prominent persons who are not normally guilty of misrepresentation and negligence. They allow their names to be used as sponsors but never check to see what's going on."

There have been two or three classic cases of this in Canada since the war. A supreme court judge was talked into becoming honorary president of a new organization. He quit a short time later.

Said a Canadian social worker: "Prominent people won't invest a dollar in anything else without the most careful investigation and professional advice. But so many of them are so ready to let their vanity be tickled by an invitation to the board of some outfit with a worthy-sounding name."

So investigate before you invest in good works. Nearly all the causes Canadians are currently liable to encounter would score high on good intent and absolute integrity. But scores on the amount of good achieved per charity dollar would vary considerably.

turn from Ottawa expressed confidence that a satisfactory agreement will be reached in attempts to get assistance for B.C. fruit growers.

Hail stones as big as golf balls were reported to have fallen near Peachland. Most of the orchards in that district escaped the onslaught.

An Okanagan lawn bowling rink, skipped by Don Whitman of Kelowna, did something that no other Canadian rink has done yet. The quartet captured the Jenkinson Cup during the B.C. Lawn Bowling championships at Vancouver. It is the second most important cup in the contest. Others on the rink were A. Labrun, Salmon Arm; T. Marlin, Vernon, and R. Whillis, Kelowna.

After a 10-year stay in Kelowna, where he was in charge of district policing most of the time, Corporal W. J. Butler of the B.C. Police has been transferred to Victoria.

The German 77 mm. cannon allotted to the city arrived on Monday and was placed in a temporary position in the park. Interest in the trophy is intensified by the fact that it was captured by British Columbia's original overseas unit, the Seventh Battalion.

After considerable deliberation the Canadian National Railways has decided on the name of Winfield for the station at the district surrounding Woods Lake.

Applications from the St. Louis Cafe and the Vancouver Cafe, both operated by Chinese, for licences for the sale of near-beer, were refused by City Council without discussion.

Marriage Vows Exchanged At First United Church

Marriage vows were exchanged Monday of last week amid ribboned baskets of white gladioli and bouquets of white carnations, tied with matching satin bows on the church pews, by Miss Phyllis Lavina Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watkins, Kelowna, and Mr. John Blair Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fulton, of Victoria.

Rev. D. M. Perley officiated at the evening ceremony, held in the First United Church. Given away by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of white satin, fashioned with bouffant skirt, tight bodice and long lily point sleeves, embroidered in white satin thread. Queen Anne collar and small buttons down the front, added interest to the dress. A net, ruching coronet held her fingertip, double circular veil, embroidered in satin at the edge. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations, white daisies, and stephanotis, against a blue ribbon backing. For something old, the bride wore a gold bracelet of her great grandmothers, and as something borrowed, a white lace handkerchief, brought from Switzerland by her cousin, Miss W. Davies.

Two bridesmaids, Misses Kathleen Carter, of Trail, and Gertrude Brown, of Revelstoke, wore identical ensembles in yellow and green. A. J. Luck, Mr. M. D. Brogan, Mr. F. W. Middleton, Mr. F. W. Milton, Mr. O. A. Finsand, Mr. H. Uururt, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Newson. They are guests at the Willow Inn.

Three-tiered wedding cake, topped with white carnations and silver bands of sweet peas completed their outfits. They carried fan-shaped bouquets of sweet peas, backed with green net, and wore gold drop pendants, gift of the bride.

Mr. W. C. Fulton, brother of the groom from Victoria, was best man, while Mr. Ted Watkins, bride's brother, and Mr. Glen Patterson acted as ushers.

Miss Frances Oatman sang "Oh, Perfect Love," accompanied by Mr. Beadle on the organ.

Fifty guests attended a reception at the Willow Inn, where Mr. S. B. Harrison, uncle of the bride, proposed a toast, to which the groom responded. Presiding at the urns were Miss Winifred Davies and Mrs. S. E. Harrison, Misses Lavina Froese, Prince George; Carol McKean, Golden; Kaye Henderson, Golden, and Mrs. C. Stranberg were servitors.

AQUATIC WOMEN MAKING PLANS FOR HOEDOWN

Plans for the annual Harvest Hoedown dance got underway at last week's meeting of the Ladies Aquatic auxiliary.

Indications are that this dance, being convened by Miss Gwyneth Foulds and Mrs. E. Winter, will be a most enjoyable climax to the summer's aquatic activities. Date has been set for August 30, to enable the university students to attend, before returning to their studies. The various committees are working industriously and sparing no effort to insure everyone an excellent time. Carl Dunaway and his orchestra are planning specialty numbers, adding variety to the occasion. Decorations are in charge of Miss Joyce Reinhold, while Miss Janet Scanland is in charge of ticket sales.

Miss Jessie McEachern reported on membership sales over the Regatta, stating that they were not quite as high as last year.

Arrangements are also being made to have Mrs. Mikki give an other demonstration of flower arranging, in the near future. The charm of this ancient Japanese culture, as expressed by Mrs. Mikki, is fascinating and of special interest to flower lovers. Exact date for the demonstration will be announced later.

The annual fall fashion show, which was such an outstanding success last year, will again be held on September 13. Mrs. R. P. Walrod is convening this annual event. Featuring both men and women's fashions, outfits will be supplied by Scanland's and Stylemart Men's Wear.

nations and tulle decorated the bride's table, covered by a beautiful lace cloth made by the bride's mother.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left on a honeymoon south, and on their return will reside in Creston. For her going away outfit, the bride chose a rose-pink dressmaker suit, fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves. She wore matching hat and purse, with white blouse, shoes, and gloves. A jewelled pendant, gift of the groom and a corsage of white stephanotis and fern complemented her outfit.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Frances Davies and Miss Winifred Davies, cousins of the bride, from England; Mr. and Mrs. W. Fulton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, all of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. E. Froese, Miss Lavina Froese of Prince George; Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Craig, Mrs. Mary Nairn, of New Westminster; Mrs. L. Watkins, of Brisco; Misses Carol McKean and Kaye Henderson, and Mrs. R. McKean, of Golden; Miss Kathleen Carter, Trail; Miss Gertrude Brown, Revelstoke; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Harrison and sons, Salmon Arm; Mrs. Burnside, Penticton; Mr. H. Wheeler, Scandia, Alta.; Mrs. Mary Watkins, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. Vallis, Vancouver; and Mrs. W. Hart, Golden.

WILLOW INN GUESTS... are Mrs. Nairn and Mr. and Mrs. Craig, all of New Westminster; M. J. C. Hennig, Prince George; Mrs. W. Burnside, Penticton; Mrs. A. S. Dickson, Vernon.

Nurses Will Familiarize Canadians With Problems

Two outstanding projects have been launched by the Canadian Nurses Association, in the hopes that they will illustrate the means in which Canadian nurses can better serve the Canadian public.

The first of these is a national nursing service survey, the other a survey of the Canadian Nurses Association. Canadian nurses today, are fully aware of the ever-expanding fields of nursing and nursing service survey, the other conscious of the critical shortage of trained nurses, it was pointed out.

Success of these two projects will depend on the co-operation of the Canadian people. It has been stressed that the present shortage of nurses, rapidly approaching national emergency proportions, will be a serious detriment to the lives of the Canadian people.

"It is the individual that will suffer from the shortage of nurses. It is in the interest of the public that these surveys are being carried out, and it is only from their full support and interest in their own welfare that these surveys will be realized," an official declared.

The main issue being planned by the Canadian Nurses Association is to set up independent schools of nursing, abolishing the old system of apprenticeship. It has already been proved by the Metropolitan School of Nursing, Windsor, Ont., that such a program is satisfactory. Experiments have shown that fully qualified clinical nurses may be trained in 25 months, when the school of nursing is operated independently of a hospital rather than the apprentice system employed by the hospital schools of nursing.

It is also intended to differentiate the professional nurse from the auxiliary by keeping the former for routine work. A department of nursing within the dominion health department is also desired.

Annually since 1934, the Canadian Nurses Association has asked the government for a subsidy towards nursing education, and for these past 16 years has received no response, it was pointed out. "It is now realized that the government will not meet such a requirement, until it is backed by the entire Canadian people. This is the responsibility of the association, to enlighten the people on nursing education, and to attain an adequate statement of definite facts and figures. Then, with this support of the Canadian people, the Association will again place the issue in the hands of the government," a committee member said.

A public relations committee has been set up in Vancouver, in co-ordination with the association. Through this committee the present problem will not only be presented to larger cities and towns, but also to the communities and rural districts throughout Canada. Correspondents will be placed in these outlying districts so that they may be supplied with up to date, and accurate information on all association activities.

The purpose of this committee is to take the Canadian people into the confidence of the nurses' association, and to let them know the exact plans and activities of that same worthwhile and extremely the 100 yards freestyle for junior women and placed second to the renowned Irene Strong of Vancouver in the senior 100.

In winning the junior 100, Miss dePuyfater beat Daphne Molstead of Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, who won the junior girls' aggregate in this year's Regatta.

Don Had Best Time

Don McKenzie splashed away to a time of 60 seconds in one of the 100-yard freestyle heats for the best time of the day. But in the final he was unable to repeat and placed fourth as every one of the first four seemed to touch the finish at the same time. Bob Baird of Ocean Falls captured the nod with a time of 60.4 seconds.

At Naramata yesterday the Ogo-pogo Swimming Club came away with nine firsts in 11 events against natators from Penticton, Naramata and a lone competitor from Vancouver. In all three meets the Kelowna boys and girls were accompanied by Miss Margaret Hutton, ornamental swimmer deluxe on the North American continent. Success of the youngsters is credited to the coaching in timing and stroking they have been getting last summer and this summer from Miss Hutton.

Local rhythmic swimmers, the delight of the Regatta crowds this year, were to give a display at Lake Chelan, but choppy water spoiled the plans. Miss Hutton's girls performed at Naramata yesterday, however, and were accorded tremendous applause.

"Absolutely Thrilled"

The same dozen or so of boys and girls who made such a great showing at Lake Chelan, Cetus and Naramata in the swimming events are expected to go to Spokane this week for the annual junior swimfest Thursday and Friday. Also expected to make the jaunt is Jim Scantland, back from his cadet training.

Last year, in their first outside meet in years, the Ogo-pogo swim clubbers placed fourth and brought home 11 trophies as souvenirs. There is also a possibility the Kelowna swimmers may take part in a meet at The Dalles, Ore., according to Miss Hutton. The meet is coming up on August 26 and 27.

The local swimmers were treated royally wherever they went, Miss Hutton said. All travelled in private cars, provided by Kelowna persons interested in fostering swimming here.

Miss Hutton expects bigger things from her charges at Spokane this week. "They are all coming along very well," she grinned happily. "I'm absolutely thrilled with them."

Mr. Findlater proved himself a competent conductor and is to be commended for the patience and care that he has obviously put into the training of this group of boys and girls. There can be no doubt that to every youthful member of the Elgar Junior Choir, the experience gained will make music a glory and a joy forever.

Ernest Dudgeon Who Grew Entries From Seed Awarded Aggregate Cup At Rutland's Annual Flower Show

RUTLAND—The Rutland Women's Institute held its annual flower show, in the Community Hall last Wednesday. More entries were received this year than in former years, and the exhibits were of a high order.

Among items receiving special attention was the very fine display of fruit and vegetables by Mrs. Alex Bell. The flower show was opened by O. L. Jones, M.P., of Kelowna, and in his remarks Mr. Jones congratulated the ladies on the fine display and said that it was a good thing to see such normal activities as flower shows being carried on in these days of stress.

The prizes were presented by Mrs. Jones, assisted by Mrs. George Cross, president of the Institute. The number of children entering this year's gardeners was greater than usual, due no doubt to the fact that two fine cups were put up in this division by David Addy, for annual competition. Rene Ruffl won the cup for vegetables, while Jeannette Heitzmann and Roberta Ruffl tied for the cup for the flower section. Each will hold the cup six months.

In the senior division the high aggregate cup was won by Ernest Dudgeon and great credit is due to this young gardener for the fact that all his entries were grown from seed, no bedding out plants being used.

The entries in the home cooking were not as numerous as had been hoped, due no doubt to this being a new feature of the show. It is of particular interest that the prize winner in the white cake contest was a young boy, Peter Grant. Mrs. A. S. Mills won the silver cup for gladioli for another year, while Mrs. George Craig again retains the silver cup for sweet peas which she won last year.

Following the distribution of prizes a brisk business was done by the afternoon tea home cooking booths operated by the members of the Institute. Following is a list of the prize winners:

High aggregate cup: Ernest Dudgeon.
Gladioli cup: Mrs. A. S. Mills.
Sweet pea cup: Mrs. George Craig.

entire Valley.

One of the heaviest burdens the fruit industry of this Valley bears is the present high freight rates. Any further increases would be but that much greater burden. Okanagan fruit can reach its markets by no other means than the railways and the cost of this transportation already limits our markets to a very considerable degree.

And yet today the whole economy of the Okanagan, of all its people seems to be in the hands of railway unions whose demands have been labelled as being unfair and discriminatory by an impartial judgment.

LOCAL GARAGE CHANGES HANDS

An old established firm, Weeden Garage, has changed hands. Located on the corner of Leon Avenue and Water Street, it will now be known as Gibson Motors Ltd.

Operated by J. A. Gibson and H. LeVasser, the best of service will be offered together with the same familiar Imperial Oil products. With twenty-five years' experience in the garage business behind him, Mr. Gibson is fully qualified to maintain a high standard of service. Prior to coming to Kelowna he resided in northern Saskatchewan.

Mr. LeVasser has also had considerable experience in the automotive industry. His former home was Pincher Creek, Alberta.

Leon Avenue, which is fast becoming known as "Garage Row" will soon see the name of the new firm.

New equipment will be added from time to time so that the new company will be able to give the most modern service in all departments.

Aluminum plates give Bakery pies that "Homemade" flavour

An "Inside Story"

Hints to the Housewife

The natural minerals in foods and water sometimes leave a dark deposit on cooking utensils. It's easily removed from aluminum. Simply use a tablespoon of vinegar in boiling water.

ALUMINUM COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

Aluminum is friendly to food!

1. Baked in aluminum plates and bowls in those same aluminum plates—that's why so many "over-the-counter" pies taste as good as the homemade kind.
2. Aluminum plates give you tender, thoroughly baked pies with the delicious juices all sealed in.
3. Aluminum plates mean no more broken pies for the baker... no more thick, soggy bottom crusts for you!
4. No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum. When you see aluminum on the outside of a food or a drink, there's an "inside story" of perfectly protected flavour, quality.
